IN THE RECENT ELECTION held for five positions on St. Lucy's Parish Council, an 18-year old girl, Barbara Ruhnke, a student at West Valley College, was elected as a write-in candidate.

Sponsored by the Youth Council, Barbara topped four adults in the balloting and thus gained a spot on the Council.

Barbara and members of the Youth Council staged a regular campaign, passing out literature, etc.

We don't know the young lady, but we think her election to the Parish Council was an excellent idea.

And there must have been a large number of adults in the parish who felt the same way and they took the time to write in her name.

WE THINK IT SHOWS very definitely that it isn't necessary for young people to resort to violence in order to show that they are concerned with what is going on in the world and want to become involved.

We think the young people should become involved.

We recognize that the election of an 18-year old girl to a Parish Council makes only a mere ripple in the big picture.

But it gave us sort of a warm feeling.

We felt that it proved, to some degree, at least to those who are willing to listen, that our "system" is not all bad, despite what some of the kooky demonstrators would have us believe.

But maybe we are too optimistic.

We hope not.

THE LATE-LATE SHOWS that come on the tube in the wee morning hours, for the particular benefit of those afflicted with insomnia, had unscheduled competition the other night (morning) at a City Council meeting.

Would you believe that at 1:30 a.m. five councilmen, plus the regular hangers-on, were watching a film-strip in the Council chambers?

It was all in the line of duty, for we are certain that even the most avid late-late show viewer would not give that particular show a very high rating from an entertainment point of view.

The "show" (a six-minute film strip) was presented by personnel of McKeon Construction Co., who are contemplating (if they get the blessing of the city) construction of 88 four-plexes on the former Gomes Ranch property between Hamilton and Latimer.

THE FILM, WHICH WAS viewed at that unholy hour by the city brass, pictured various McKeon developments in other communities to illustrate the merits of the concept that is planned for Campbell.

The McKeon people were making their pitch for the subdivision map that was before the Council and which had previously been approved by the Planning Commission.

In approving the map, the Planning Commission had tacked on a condition that the parking easements that were shown on the map would have to be eliminated.

The construction people claimed that without those easements, the subdivision could not be developed properly, so they asked the Council to put 'em back in.

And after the "show," the Council did.

Now that particular filmstrip will not win any Oscars. But its "message" must have come through loud and clear.

That's more than can be said about some of those Hollywood productions that

WHERE THE LIBRARY WILL GO—With the recent acquisition of the Stroppa property on Harrison Ave. (on the left above), for $52,250, the City of Campbell has now acquired all the property needed for the new county library building. The two adjacent parcels on Harrison (on right above) that were needed, plus four lots on Central, have been cleared.

Approximately $190,000 has been expended by the city for the seven parcels for the library which will be located between Central and Harrison directly across from the new city hall. The library will have a 240-foot frontage on each street.

The funds for the land acquisition came from the $400,000 bond issue approved by the voters for the library in October, 1967. It will be built by the city and leased to the county.

Originally it was planned for the library to be part of the city hall complex now under construction.

However, George Farrier, county librarian, was successful in getting federal funding for part of the building and thus a library almost twice the size of what was originally suggested is now planned.

The additional property across the street from the city hall was necessary to provide space for the expanded structure. The city's commitment, however, remains at $400,000, including the funds already expended for land.

The construction time-table for the new 24,000 square foot library now depends on the working out of the fiscal details by the county departments.

New concept for homes wins planners approval

Campbell, almost bereft of new single-family dwellings during the past few years, will get 29 of them in one fell swoop, if the recommendation made by a 5-0 vote of the Planning Commission on Monday night is carried out.

But the 29 homes will present an entirely new residential concept (for Campbell) and some residents in the area adjacent to the proposed project on four acres at Sunnyoaks and Hacienda indicated at the hearing Monday that they were not sure they liked the idea.

Proposed by Kunkel-Thomas, developers, who were turned down previously for a duplex complex on the property, is that 29 individual homes will be built on the site, using the so-called "zero-lot line" approach and emphasizing a central recreational or park area.

The developers claim that, although the lot sizes are less than the city's minimum of 6000 square feet, if the area for the streets are deducted, by putting the houses on the lot lines instead of "centering" them, more useable yard space is made available than in the 6000-square foot jobs.

In addition, the central recreational area will provide even more open space for the tract.

The proposal by Kunkel-Thomas had been before the Planning Commission for some time and hearings on it had been continued to allow for more study.

Residents of the area who had been present at previous hearings were also present Monday to emphasize again that they did not want another "Jean Drive" to crop up on the property. (They were referring to a series of apartments that had been built on Sunnyoaks.)

Among the residents expressing concern was Mrs. Robert Hallsworth, 1110 Fairlands Court, whose property adjoins the tract with a drainage ditch between. The developers, represented by Eldridge Kunkel and Carl Bumpass, indicated that there would be no problem in drainage and that it was their responsibility to grade the area properly.

Mrs. Harry Orosio, of 802 Sunnyoaks, owner of the property in question, emphasized the fact that she was being penalized if the land was not developed because her tax bills continued.

Mrs. Gerald Noble, of 803 Sunnyoaks, vigorously defended the proposed project

NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

Council to hear pitch for banning fireworks

Members of the City Council next Monday night, Nov. 23, will hear reasons for the banning of the sale of all fireworks within the city limits as part of a county-wide drive instituted by fire prevention officers.

Gene Borden, Campbell fire marshal, and Fire Chief George Maxwell, leaders in the ban drive, are scheduled to present evidence showing the dangers that exist in the indiscriminate use of fireworks, especially by youngsters. They are asking for appropriate city action. The Youth Advisory Commission, headed by Rusty Hammer, has submitted a recommendation favoring the ban.

Next Monday the Council is also scheduled to discuss the proposed landscaping plans for the new city hall as presented by Bill Hedley, architect for the city hall, and Lyle Frederickson, of Anthony M. Guzzando & Associates, landscape architects.

It is estimated that the landscaping will total about $40,000. If the Council approves the plans, bids will be called for.

In a related new city hall matter, the Council is expected to take action on the letting of bids for carpeting and drapes for the structure.

As an aftermath to the recent ruling of the City Council that will keep White Oaks Road open, Paul Quintarelli and Charles Ferroni, leaders in the move to keep the street open, are requesting that a joint city-county traffic study be made of the road.

The purpose of the survey would be to determine where stop signs could be located to assist in the traffic problem on the street. Three locations (Shelley, Redding and Woodard) have been suggested.

Other matters coming before the City Council next Monday include a report on the status of the former Nelson Bros. hardware building. City staff is recommending, based on the request of the owners, that a study be made as to what it will take to bring the building up to code.

The Council is also expected to discuss the proposed text amendment (turned down by the Planning Commission) which would allow variation in street widths in certain subdivisions.

Four zone change matters are on the agenda and Council action will also be required to allow Mayer Dean Chamberlin and Vice-Mayor Ralph Doetsch to participate in the social security plan of city employees.

Rusty Hammer and Ron Brooks, original appointees to the Youth Advisory Commission, by a letter to the Council are requesting reappointment to the commission.

COUNCIL SUPPORT

A steering committee has been formed to support the Campbell City Council's position on the Dec. 8 referendum election to allow a third screen drive-in movie.

Serving on the committee will be Dean Chamberlin, Campbell mayor, Mrs. Jeanette Watson, Mrs. Dorothy Vierhus and Don Hebard.

The committee's objective will be to present the council position to the public.

Interested persons are urged to contact Hebard at 379-3273 or Chamberlin at 378-4627.

ON DEMOTION ISSUE

Ex-school chief issues statement

NEAL ROYER

On October 8, by a 3-2 vote of the board of trustees of the Campbell Union School District, Neal Royer, superintendent of the district since 1964 and who had been given a new four-year contract in 1968, was demoted to principal.

No reasons were given by the three turstees, Richard MacQuiddy, Mrs. Eleanor Graham-Armstrong and Ralph Steinberg, in voting for the demotion.

The action followed the submission of a report by the Citizens Advisory Finance Committee which pinpointed the fiscal problems that the district faces. The report also called for the dismissal of the districts' business manager.

Prior to the submission of the report, the business manager had filed a $100,000 suit against the superintendent.

The demotion action by the three board members, triggered a recall movement against two of the trustees, Mrs. Graham-Armstrong and Steinberg.

More than six weeks have elapsed since the board's action and still no charges against the superintendent have been made public.

The following statement issued by Neal Royer this week emphasizes that fact.....G.V.

BY NEAL ROYER

former Superintendent of Campbell Union School District

My first notice of the $100,000 suit against me by the business manager of the Campbell Union School District arrived at my office on Wednesday, October 7, 1970 at approximately 4:55 p.m.

The story was carried in newspapers on the following day. My demotion took place the evening of October 8.

The public demotion took place without prior warning, without evaluation of my job performance and without reasons being given by the board.

The timing of the personnel changes made by the board on October 8, 1970 was questioned that night by a staff member. It was made very clear by the board president that the changes were to be made immediately.

This left me no chance to delay the personnel changes or question them without fear of being charged with insubordination.

It was my hope that a cooling off period would permit more rational discussion of the alleged problems and presentation of reasons for the board action. This has not come to pass.

People of the community ask me why I was demoted and why I do not fight the "charges".

I cannot fight charges that have not been made.

Meanwhile, rumors are rampant throughout the district.

My attorney is being asked to seek a meeting with the board in a personnel session to obtain any valid reasons for my demotion.

In the event this effort fails, I have no choice but to seek legal action in the immediate future.

It will be with reluctance that I bring legal action against the district because of the many problems already being faced by the board.

Crocker-Citizens bank to locate in Pruneyard

Crocker-Citizens National Bank will have an office in the PruneYard Shopping Center in Campbell, it has been announced by Howard R. Carlson, senior vice-president and manager of the San Jose-headquartered Central Coast Region.

Carlson said that construction of the facility, the bank's 22nd in Santa Clara County, should begin shortly. He estimated that the new office would open for business early in 1971.

The office will be designed in the early California-Spanish style that is the theme of the shopping center. Exterior walls will be pale brick and the roof will be red tile. All exposed surfaces, both inside and out, will appear "weathered" for the desired effect.

The interior will continue to execute the early California motif. Exposed flooring in the business area will be burnt clay tile. Contemporary post and beam architecture will be employed. The stained, rough-sawn plywood ceiling will be supported by used 12" x 12" beams. Wrought iron trim will develop the theme further.

The bank's newest Santa Clara County office—and its only outlet in Campbell—will have 6700 square feet of air-conditioned floor space.

Walk-up and drive-up tellers' windows will be provided, with ten tellers' windows inside.

Recall action

Reports from various precinct captains filed this week in the recall action against Mrs. Eleanor Graham-Armstrong and Ralph Steinberg, trustees of the Campbell Union School District, reveal that more than 20% of the necessary 7000 signatures on the petitions have been obtained.

Ed Wood, general precinct chairman, said that the signatures already filed with him exceed the total vote received by the trustee receiving the highest vote in the last election.

Editorial

The referendum

On December 8, voters within the city limits of Campbell will go to the polls to cast ballots in the first referendum election in the history of this city.

The issue to be decided is whether or not a zoning decision made by four members of the City Council should be upheld or rejected.

By an ordinance adopted by the four-vote majority of the City Council on Oct. 27, the zoning was changed on a six-acre parcel adjacent to the Winchester Drive-in Theater so that the theater, now operating two screens on its present site, could install a third screen on the adjacent six-acres that it also owned.

The four councilmen, Dean Chamberlin, Ralph Doetsch, Bill Smeed and Bill Podgorsek, who approved the zone-change after many public hearings felt that the third screen installation would be better utilization for the property than a development such as an apartment complex which would have to use a sub-standard road for access.

In addition, the four councilmen were concerned over the strong possibility that a law suit could be filed against the city, if the property owner, Syufy Enterprises, was not allowed to use the property. If the judgment went against the city, it would place a heavy burden on the taxpayers.

We believe the four councilmen acted in good faith and for the best interest of the citizens of the city.

The following presentation was drafted by the four councilmen, Dean Chamberlin, Ralph Doetsch, Bill Smeed and Bill Podgorsek, as a summary of their position:

THE CASE FOR THE COUNCIL

The story of the development of the "third screen controversy" is long and complicated. But the majority of the Campbell City Council believes:

1. That all concerned must deal with the facts of the case as they NOW exist.

2. That the City must not commit illegal acts, particularly not to favor one property owner at the expense of another.

3. That the City Council must avoid positions which could result in enormous and useless expense to its taxpayers.

So, the City Council voted recently to zone 6 acres of property, belonging to and adjacent to the existing Winchester Theaters, from R-3-S (Multiple Residential Usage) to M-1-S (Industrial Usage, including permitted drive-in theater development). This action was taken because:

1. The property had no direct access to a public road. The only possibilities for providing access were through the two existing theaters or over a 36 foot easement private road owned by an adjacent property owner.

2. The easement was not for sale at the time of the Council's decision.

3. It was, therefore, impossible to construct 224 apartments on the property, as the Planning Commission had approved.

4. The only alternative was to approve the zone change to M-1-S, anticipating the construction of a third screen which could use the two existing theaters for access.

A referendum petition was circulated in town, and obtained sufficient signatures to force an election now scheduled for Dec. 8. If the voters so mandate, the action of the council will be over-ruled and the property will revert to its R-3-S status.

At this point, the future and its risks must be considered by the voters in reaching their decisions. The following dangers influenced the Council in its decision and must be faced soberly by the electorate:

1. A lawsuit against the city is a strong possibility. It would probably be based on the premise that the city has deprived the property owners of the right to use their holdings, a violation of the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments to the Constitution.

2. The City Attorney has advised the Council that the City does not have a strong defense against such litigation.

3. If the City loses such a case, it could be liable for:

   a. its own legal expenses. (A huge expenditure regardless of the judgement).

   b. the damages suffered by the property owners, including his own legal expense plus the losses he has suffered by the delays caused by the city.

   c. possible punitive damages.

Taken together, these judgments could impose an enormous burden upon the already highly taxed citizens of Campbell—totaling well over $100,000.

Then, as a final indignity, the third screen would be built in exactly the same place as it would have been if the original application had been approved two years ago.

In the light of these facts and risks, the majority of your City Council urges a "YES" vote on Dec. 8. We just can't afford to lose!

IN ALL FAIRNESS IT should be pointed out that particular night (and morning) demonstrated nobly in our book, that they were dedicated and determined to serve the best interests of the community, even if it meant that they would be dragged out the next day at work.

Before the McKeon "show", that we were telling you about, came on, the Council had conducted a record-breaking public hearing on the proposed closing of White Oaks.

That hearing lasted for 3½ hours and more than 30 people took their turns at the microphone before it was over, just before midnight.

It was followed by another hour-long public hearing (starting at midnight) on the proposed 72-unit apartment complex planned for Gale Drive.

At the first hearing the crowd overflowed the chambers.

The second hearing attracted a much smaller house.

And when, shortly after 1 a.m., the McKeon-four-plex hearing started, only the McKeon people, plus the councilmen and the hangers-on were on hand.

The construction gang suggested, because of the late hour, that they would forego the film, if the Council desired.

But the weary councilmen agreed that another six-minutes at that hour hardly mattered, especially if it would give them a better insight as to what was planned for the Gomes property.

It was a marathon session for the city fathers, (about six hours of sitting time), and undoubtedly it tried their patience to the extreme. But they didn't show it.

We think all the councilmen deserve a great deal of credit (and especially Mayor Dean Chamberlin, who wielded the gavel with tact) for the manner in which the lengthy and sometime boring hearings were conducted.

And while we are passing out accolades we should not overlook those citizens who participated in the evening festivities.

Absent were the emotional outbursts and interruptions that so often foul up such affairs.

Both sides had their say and were courteous to the opposition. To be trite one could say that it was an excellent example of democracy at work on the lower strata.

That made the long evening a little more bearable to us, who sat through it all although we recognize such activities are the occupational hazards of our profession.

And we speak with some authority on the subject.

AS SO MANY DO, BOB Cowan, manager of Wells Fargo Bank in town, keeps in touch with the town in which he grew up, Crystal Lake, Ill. through the hometown newspaper.

Recently Bob brought in a number of clippings from the "Crystal Lake Herald." Among them were several columns entitled "AS IRA 'WRIT' IT".

The "Ira" referred to was the founder, Ira M. Mallory, of "The Herald" in 1883, who served as editor until 1896, according to the masthead of the paper.

The column is composed of items garnered from the files when Ira was at the helm of that newspaper.

One paragraph of Ira's particularly caught our eye. It seems quite apropos today.

We quote:

"An editor occupies a very delicate position. His sense of right will often cause him to attack or defend a cause, making friends of some, enemies of others.

"And no level-headed editor expects gratitude, he must generally be content with the approval of his own conscience, and pursue the course he believes right, regardless of frowns or smiles. His stand will come out alright in the end.

"And it does seem that all too often those you have given a helping hand many times are the first to desert you. But this teaches an editor self-reliance, good judgment, and complete regard for the truth....."

That's the way old Ira saw it and "writ it" 'way back in the '80's.

We don't think it can be said any better today.

So what else is new?

as an excellent plan and chided the Planning Commission for delaying action.

Opposition to the plan was voiced by Mrs. Charles Beatty, Jr., of 875 Bucknam; Mrs. Richard Warren, Jr., of 885 Bucknam, and Mrs. John Moore, of 888 Bucknam. Robert Brundin, of 1120 Fairlands Ct. was concerned over what controls the city would have in forcing the developers to carry out the plans as presented.

The commissioners, in approving the concept (zone change from R-1 to P-D - planned development), emphasized that they, too, were interested in maintaining control and stipulated that the layout for the recreational area would be subject to architectural approval. The original plan showed a pond in the area but it was indicated that the pond might be eliminated.

Concern was also expressed by both members of the audience and the commissioners as to the type of overall maintenance control that would be exercised. The developers indicated that the maintenance costs would be a mandatory charge against the residents in the tract.

In other actions, the Commission continued until their next meeting the application of Shell Oil for approval of plans for a station at Bascom and Campbell and approved the application of G. C. Morgan for a year's extension on the proposed 178-unit apartment complex at 350 Budd.

The request of Charles L. Carothers for waiver of the overlay zoning conditions for a four-unit complex on West Valley Drive was also approved.

THE PHONE BOOTH

A certain lady couldn't understand why she wasn't getting any telephone calls. And her callers thought she was on the phone all the time. Trouble was, her phone was off the hook. She'd replaced the receiver, but a book on the desk accidentally kept it from "hanging up." It might also happen that the phone is left off the hook if you answer a call on one phone and leave it to pick up an extension. Or small children might accidentally knock the receiver off while playing. It's a good idea to check your phone now and then to make sure it's hung up properly. It's good insurance against losing incoming calls.

Excavating? Drilling? Blasting? Grading? Setting fence posts? Planting shrubbery? Driving pipes? These are seven ways of accidentally damaging buried telephone wire or cable, which could cut into the telephone service of a community.

If you're planning to do any heavy digging, please call our Repair Service first at 611. We can tell you the location of any cable buried near where you're planning to dig. That way you can be sure you won't deprive yourself or your neighbors of telephone service.

The Question Box

Q Can I adjust the sound of my telephone bell?

A Yes, on most phones. Just look on the bottom of a desk-type set or at the side of a wall phone. You'll see a wheel or lever for softening. If you have any questions just call Repair Service.

SHAPING UP--Construction continues at a rapid pace for Campbell's new city hall which is located adjacent to the present city quarters which will be demolished when the new complex is completed.

Building permit total tops last year despite big drop in October

Although the valuation of building permits for the first 10 months of 1970 is almost $1 million ahead of the same period in 1969, the month of October was rated one of the poorest months on record, according to Wally Byron, city building official.

The valuation of building permits through October this year totals $5,761,327 compared to $4,852,863 for the same period last year.

However, in October this year the permits came to only $51,711 compared to $169,063 in October, 1969.

Byron added that there has been considerable activity during the month of November, and the month should show a substantial increase on the building front.

In October, no permits were issued for any residential, commercial or industrial building. The permits that were issued were mainly for additions and remodeling, plus five signs and one swimming pool.

During the first 10 months of the year, the report reveals that there have been 24 permits for swimming pools issued for $78,490. (In 1969, for the same period there were 19 permits for pools, for $64,000.)

So far this year, the building official's report shows that there have been no permits issued for single-family residents. (Last year through October there had been three.)

Multiple building in Campbell has also been in a decline this year, although the dollar value is higher this year. Last year to date, there had been five permits for multiples for $486,195, while this year there have been only four permits; the dollar value is $2,080,099.

There have been no duplex permits taken out this year, compared to nine last year, for $218,278.

Many infections of fingernails and toenails are due to improper cutting. Toenails should be cut straight across, fingernails in a semi-circle.

Some physical signs of diabetes: excessive thirst, excessive urination, increased hunger, loss of weight, tiring easily, slow healing of cuts and bruises, changes in vision, and drowsiness.

According to a West German physician, so many people die from falling out of bed (because of nightmares, or excess use of alcohol) that beds should be sold with safety belts!

A thin person can survive only about six weeks without food, but an obese individual can last as long as eight months. Thin people must use more energy, thereby burning more of their own body weight.

The aborigines of South America used the bark of a tree in the treatment of malaria. Two hundred years later, scientists extracted quinine from this bark—and today it's used for the same purpose.

MEDICAL EXPLORERS

The Good Samaritan Hospital of Santa Clara last week became the sponsor of three Medical Explorer Posts, with 96 high school students—both boys and girls—as participants.

The Explorers, which originated with the Boy Scouts of America, are organized into posts according to the different career interests of participants. These three Medical Explorer Posts are the first in Santa Clara Valley, and came after the Boy Scouts had circulated career preference sheets in Prospect, Leigh, Camden and Branham high schools.

At last week's organizational meeting, the students were assigned posts according to their school registration. John Condie was elected president of the Prospect group; Jim Stephens, Leigh; and Dave Hoover, Camden-Branham.

Advisors will be members of the Medical-Dental Staff of The Good Samaritan Hospital: Lowell Sorensen, M.D.; Dean Harding, M.D.; Larry Morris, M.D.; and Walter Otto, M.D., chief-of-staff. They will work with the Explorers and with representatives of Boy Scouts.

PIONEER DISTRICT
Busy Adult

Training adults for leadership tasks within the Boy Scouts of America takes up a lot of Gene Ellsworth's time.

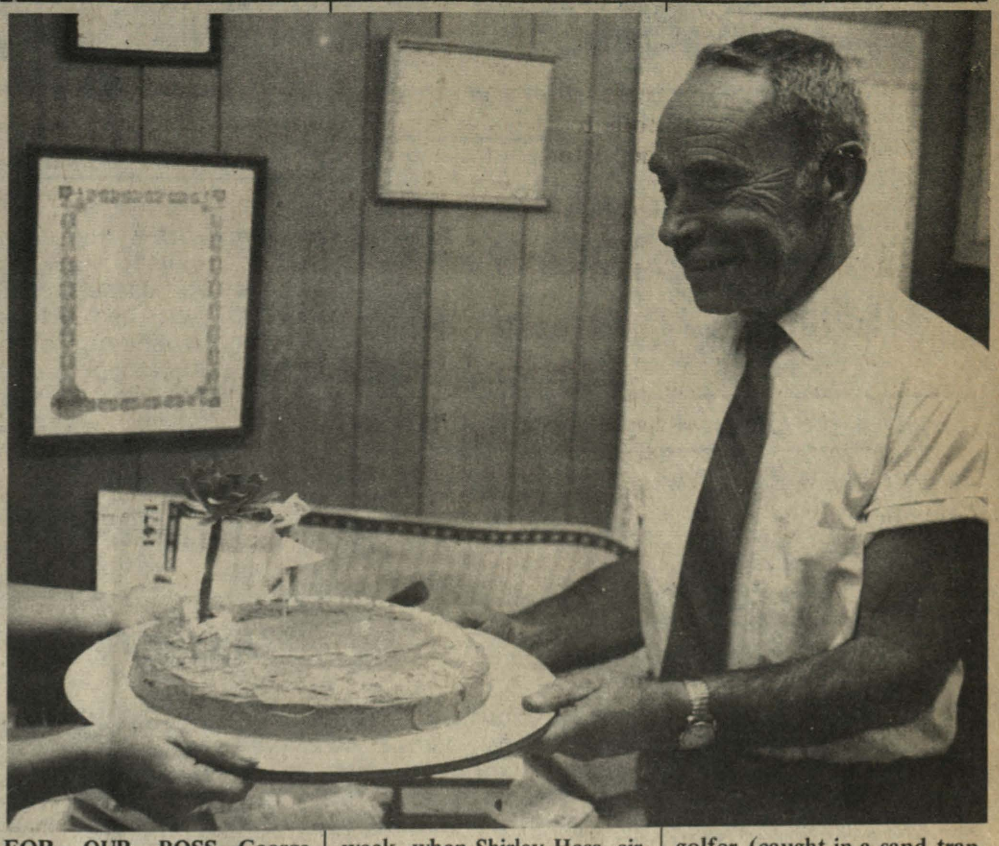
Ellsworth is an automotive technician for Stevens Pontiac Company during the day. Evenings and week-ends, however, he is a Pioneer District Training Coordinator, and a busy one.

Ellsworth and his fellow volunteer committeemen set up and conduct, with professional scouters, several seven-week adult leadership courses aimed at helping adults learn how to work with boys.

Called, "The University of Scouting," the adult training program meets once weekly for seven weeks and caps their formal program with a graduation ceremony and an overnight camp-out. Following a distinct format, each weekly meeting focuses on specific areas of scouting.

During the most recent session, Ellsworth reports that seventeen leaders completed the entire course and that over the past year, some 50 to 60 adults have completed the Bearpaw training. Pioneer District awards the Bearpaw uniform patch to all adults completing the program.

Pioneer District, Boy Scouts of America, includes Moreland, Campbell, Union, Cambrian and parts of Los Gatos School Districts. Some 136 Scouting Units with 4,730 boys actively participate in the Scouting Program.



FOR OUR BOSS--George Vierhus, editor and publisher of the Campbell Press, was pleasantly surprised by his "family" at The Press this week, when Shirley Hess, circulation manager, turned her talent to baking and decorated an appropriate cake for his birthday. The cake featured a golfer (caught in a sand trap, natch!) and the flag marking the hole is appropriately labelled "19".

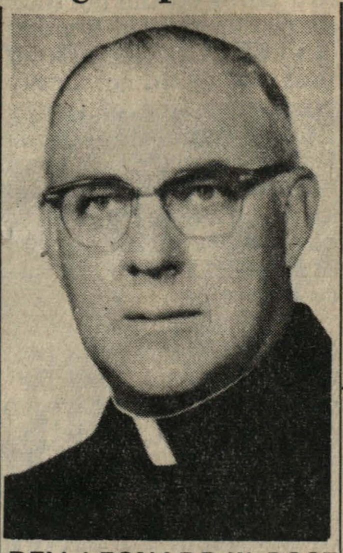
International radio group elects Father Bose president



REV. LEONARD W. BOSE

Rev. Leonard W. Bose, pastor of St. Lucy's Church, was recently elected president of the International Missionary Radio Association (IMRA) at their meeting near Cuernavacas, Mexico.

Father Bose, a "ham" radio operator, was elected for a two year term to the organization which is devoted to providing daily communication by amateur radio for missionaries, Protestant and Catholic, papal volunteers and Peace Corps personnel between their areas, as well as with their families, their headquarters and other places.

IMRA, with members in 250 countries, also promotes the use of radio and television as a means of mass communication in missionary areas. Although Father Bose's parish duties do not permit him to spend a great deal of time "on the air" he was pleased to be able to send reassurance to the mother of a volunteer working in Peru during their devastating earthquake.

Some countries, he reports, discourage the use of radio equipment, but surprisingly, talking behind the Iron Curtain presents little problem, as discussion of the equipment, the weather and other subjects has no political connotations.

Some countries, however, discourage, in fact, ban radios. Others, such as India, have so few operators, that the opportunities to talk to them are few.

One of the best members of IMRA is HV3SJ–Vatican Station. The stations are "on watch" from 1600 to 0300, Grennwich Meridian Time (eight hours later than our time), Monday through Friday.

"W6BSO"–Father Bose's "other" name, has been working with radio equipment for nearly 40 years, started in his youth in San Francisco, where a neighbor was a ham.

United Fund drive in Campbell falls $3,000 short of 1970 goal

A drive to raise more than $56,000 for the United Fund in Campbell fell $3,000 short as the 12th annual drive officially ended Thursday, Nov. 12.

Local contributors tallied a final total of $53,676 against a goal of $56,844.

County-wide, however, the picture was much brighter with a total of $3,751,749, or 101.8 per cent of last year's final figure having been contributed with pledges and contributions still coming in.

Highlight of the Campbell effort was an employee-corporate contribution from Breuners Home Furnishers-Wayside Store of $4,077. The company's employee-giving totaled $1,477 representing an increase of $400 over last year's donation.

Another local firm, Deluxe Check Printers, Inc., also had an outstanding campaign, increasing previous giving to a final figure of $2,088.

Local campaign chairman, Ed Fabbri, manager, Bank of America, contributed much of the success of this year's drive to the area's "loaned executive" Al E. Hinrichs of PG&E in Cupertino, who contacted many of Campbell's business accounts personally.

Fabbri pointed out that the United Fund books will remain open until the first of December in order to accomodate persons who as yet have not turned in their contributions.

In the coming months, United Fund allocations committees, manned by comtaking a close, in-depth look at each agency's programs to assure the contributor that he will continue to receive the maximum number of services for every dollar donated.

In the 12 years since the United Fund concept was brought to the Santa Clara Valley, the organization has undergone considerable growth.

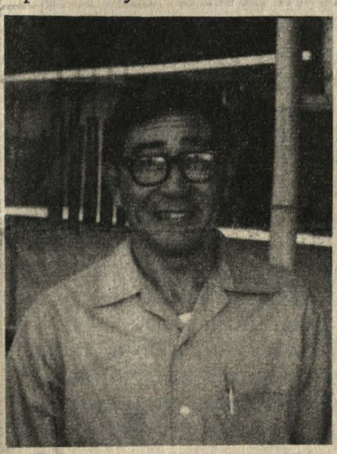
In the first fund-raising effort in the fall of 1959, volunteers had a goal of $1,278,000 for the support of 39 member agencies. In the ensuing years the organization has tripled its money-raising capacity and the agencies it helps to support.

United Fund currently extends financial support to more than 90 health, social service and youth-guidance services throughout Santa Clara County.

Varied career for import shop owner

Geologist to wholesale nurseryman to importer–that in brief is the story of Pat Sano, who has just opened the new Import Expo in the Campbell Plaza Shopping Center.

Previous to opening the new import outlet, Sano had spent 18 years in his wholesale nursery business on Pollard Rd. The nursery was sold out a year ago due to the extensive commercial development in the area immediately adjacent to his nursery.



PAT SANO

Sano first came to the Santa Clara Valley in 1950, following a short career with the Army Corps of Engineers. His last position with the Engineers was as a resident geologist for the newly built Lookout Point Dam in Oregon.

Postwar cutbacks in Corps' projects convinced Sano that there was a brighter future in the nursery business, so he joined the staff of the Cupertino nursery. It was not long before his employers encouraged him to establish his own wholesale nursery. The move was a success from the start and he enjoyed a business that served the entire Bay area as far south as Monterey.

A native Californian, Sano was born and raised in Brawley in the Imperial Valley, where he early learned the arts and skills of intensive agriculture. Upon graduation from Brawley High School, Pat enrolled at the University of Nebraska, receiving a degree as a petroleum geologist in 1948.

Married in 1949, the Sanos have three daughters. The two older daughters, twins, are both in college, one at UCLA and the other taking a cosmetology course at City College. The Sanos have a home on Elwood Dr. in Campbell.

SUPPLY SPECIALIST

U.S. Air Force Sergeant Donald S. Kraft, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kraft of 924 Kenneth St., Campbell, has arrived for duty at Peterson Field, Colo.

Sergeant Kraft, a supply specialist, is assigned to a unit of the Aerospace Defense Command. He previously served at Wethersfield RAF Station, England.

The sergeant is a 1964 graduate of Campbell High School. His wife, Beverly, is the daughter of Mrs. Mary L. Meyers of Omaha, Nebraska.

Grant expands cancer tests

A $9,000 grant from the American Cancer Society will enable the Santa Clara County Health Department to offer 3,000 women over the age of 30 Pap tests between now and next September.

The grant will pay for private laboratory evaluation of tests conducted at County health centers by regular staff members.

The free examinations will be held at health centers throughout the county, according to Dr. Harvey Knoernschild, county president of the cancer society.

According to Dr. Mary Clark of the County Health Department the program was originally proposed by her department but County budgetary restrictions prevented its implementation. It was then that the Santa Clara County Unit of the Cancer Society decided to fund the project for one year.

Dr. Clark explained that the test is a highly reliable way to detect uterine cancer in the early stages, when it can be treated and cured.

Examinations will be given on an appointment basis only. Persons interested should call the County Health Department at 297-1636, ext. 234.

MAPPING IT OUT---Mrs. Paul Fischer of 624 Ginden Dr. (left) will be one of the division chairmen in the Mothers' March against birth defects scheduled for January 26. Here, she studies a map of the area with Mrs. Robert C. Brinton of Saratoga. Volunteers to help organize the campaign in Campbell should telephone Mrs. Fischer, 378-1077, or the Mothers' March headquarters, 292-3122.

Letters to the Editor

ON TAXES

Dear Mr. Vierhus,

For several months now I have been hearing little more than griping about tax bills from friends, neighbors and people I don't even know. Yet, at the same time, the same people are complaining that the various governmental bodies to which they are paying the taxes are not providing enough services, needed or otherwise. Virtually all the gripers can't understand why the taxes are not being reduced.

The answer is a very simple one of expenditure versus income. Government employees' income costs the Treasury money. The equipment those employees use costs the treasury money. The maintenance of that equipment requires repairmen, more expenditure, it requires gasoline, oil, grease and replacements for unserviceable parts which all represent more costs.

The unemployed worker on welfare represents more expenditure in addition to an exemption from paying taxes. The time used for training specialized employees, i. e., policemen, firemen, security guards, etc. all cost money, in addition to the ammunition fire-fighting chemicals, gasoline and other expendable materials must be replaced at yet more cost.

Government employees' paid vacations represent still more expenditure, for which those persons' services are not available in return.

Furthermore, the tax-paying public keeps demanding more police and fire protection, more comprehensive welfare and medical benefits, improved transportation facilities and highways, ample water supply and most recently relief from various forms of pollution. All the government agencies that are working toward these objectives keep demanding more sophisticated methods and equipment to work out all their own problems. What does all this add up to? Precisely–MORE COSTS!!!

How, who has to meet these expenses? Who has to provide the income to the treasury to keep these ledger entries all in black? Us–you, me, and every working, tax-paying Joe Average American voter. We, the voters, demand these services, or a majority of us did, which in turn places the responsibility of paying the bills back upon our shoulders.

When the tax bills come and we start asking who is responsible and asking why, then let's all look in our mirrors and say "thanks". We asked for it and now we've got it!!

Paul G. Eades

P.S. Rather than being aimed directly at you it is an open letter to the community, a community I hope is responsive and open-minded.

FORMER PRINCIPAL EXPRESSES CONCERN

To Whom It May Concern.

Although I am no longer an employee of the Campbell Union School District I find I must express my concern at the recent turn of events which could well have an effect on the quality of education the children deserve and parents should rightfully anticipate in this excellent school system.

As a former Campbell school principal (1953-1969) I feel I am quite aware of the skill and hard work that went into the organization and staffing of what is well known professionally as an outstanding school district. During this time the system grew from seven to nineteen schools but parents and students experienced a minimum of the educational dis-accommodation normally associated with such growth.

This accomplishment reflects well upon the quality of the teaching staffs and administrative talents involved.

It was to my advantage both professionally and personally to have had the opportunity to work in Campbell under two exceptional educators, Bill Henley (retired) and more recently, Neal Royer.

My leaving the district was entirely of my own volition, (heavily influenced by eliminating the 13,000 mile a year commute from Capitola) and I regret not being on hand to lend active support to my former superintendent whom I admire both professionally and as a person.

WHY THE RECALL

To the Editor,

The purpose of this letter is to express my personal opinion and to answer charges by those citizens opposed to the recall action now under way. The group of citizens opposing recall distributed a letter last weekend stating four reasons for not signing the recall petition.

Their statement and my response is as follows:

1. Recall actions are notorious for dividing the community and hurting life-long friendships. They're right BUT more important is the issue and action taken by the trustees being recalled which contributed to the division of the community PRIOR to recall action being initiated.

For example, carrying on administrative duties by allowing personnel to report directly to the board which by passes normal channels, their voting and method of handling the demotion of the former superintendent, finally their delay in taking action on the Sept. 28 preliminary financial report or subsequent final report of the Citizens Advisory Finance Committee.

2. Recall is a serious action which should not be entered into without knowledge of all the facts. They're right BUT how may I ask can one get ALL the facts. The trustees being recalled have been so silent about giving any facts that they must be gold plated.

The Citizens Advisory Finance Committee Report disclosed enough facts for me, such as, how could the trustees in question have voted for a $300,000 salary increase when with prior knowledge they were aware there was no money available.

3. Each employee of the school district, including the superintendent has legal means at his disposal if he feels the Board action is unjust. A recall is no substitute for this action. They're right BUT this recall IS NOT concerned with any action the former superintendent may take against these Board members therefore, since it is not a part of the recall it is no argument against signing the recall petition.

4. A recall election drains money from the school district that could be better spent on our children's classrooms (approximately $6,000-8,000) They're right BUT I would expect that because of time required to collect, validate signatures and allow for registration and campaigning of opposing candidates that the election would be scheduled with the regular election in April thereby NOT costing the district any additional money.

I also wonder why no concern was voiced over the fact that the district may be faced with paying two superintendent salaries, because of their actions to demote the former superintendent.

I sincerely hope these answers to the anti-recall group will be of benefit to those citizens concerned about the school district. If anyone has not been contacted by a petition carrier or received a copy of the "Facts and Issues" information pamphlet, please call Ed Wood 378-7567 or myself 378-5298.

Cordially,
Don P. Nadell
Concerned citizen

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter was one of several directed to the Campbell Union (elementary) School District's Board of Trustees at their last meeting. S. H.

WORK AS A TEAM

Dr. Richard H. McQuiddy
President, Board of Trustees
Campbell Union School Dist.

To all members of the Board:

As concerned citizens and parents in this school district, there are two questions which we feel need clarifying, for the benefit of the Board and the citizens whom you represent.

(1) What is the purpose of the Board of Trustees as put forth in the by-laws of the school district?

(2) You are each individuals, but as school board members you are part of a group with specific goals to meet. Are you, then, willing to put aside differences of opinion and partisan views and work with a total effort and cooperation towards achieving the goals you were elected to achieve.

If the members of a group, any group, are predisposed to work as a team, and cooperate with each other realistically, the group will succeed. If not, it will be torn by subordinate goals, temperamental outbreaks and group disintegration.

We believe we have a right to receive answers to the above questions. We also feel we have a responsibility to see that the Board of Trustees can and will take a look at itself and determine if it is possible for it to become an effective, disciplined body, dedicated to the welfare of the school district and the education of our children.

Very truly yours,
Edith R. Bonnet

Burglars get tools, jewels

Rings, jewelry, cash and tools were reported stolen last week, according to Campbell Police.

Carl Gilbertson, 838 Sobrato, reported that someone entered his apartment between Nov. 11 and 15 and took rings, jewelry and cash valued at $873. Entry was made through a window.

Sleeping bags, saws, drills and other miscellaneous tools valued at $452 were taken from a garage at 714 Jeffrey. Virgil Lee Phariss told Campbell Police that, although he just discovered the loss, he was uncertain as to how long the items had been missing, as his family took their vacation in October.

Andy's Sunnyoaks Shell at 2855 Winchester was burglarized sometime Friday night. A rock was thrown through one of the service station's windows and a cigarette machine was robbed and Blue Chip Stamps were taken.

WINNING TEAM—Members of Campbell Police Department display trophies won in a pistol tournament using duty weapons held at Monterey recently.

Police team wins honors in pistol tournament

Second place trophies were given to members of Campbell Police Department's four-man pistol team when they competed in the Expert Class against 21 other teams at a state-wide pistol tournament recently.

In addition, two members of the department further distinguished themselves individually. Sgt. Bob Wallace competed individually in the Distinguished Master Class and earned second place in a field of 35.

Dan Ramseier, a member of the winning team, was awarded seventh place in the Sharpshooter class.

Campbell's four-man team, consisting of Officer Paul Schommer, Agent James Stoner, Officer Dan Ramseier, and Officer Ron Pennington, were each awarded a trophy by the Monterey County Sheriff's Office. Some 84 teams from all over California took part.

The newly formed Campbell Police Reserve Team also competed in the tournament and won tenth place in the Marksman Class. Steve Brownlee, Bob Fulwider, Frank Doughty and Al Nava comprised that team.

The full team is five members, one member alternating each time the team competes.

The men practice each Friday at DeAnza College's indoor pistol range.

Ruins of Wolf House recall memories of author

MEMORIAL TO AN ADVENTURER

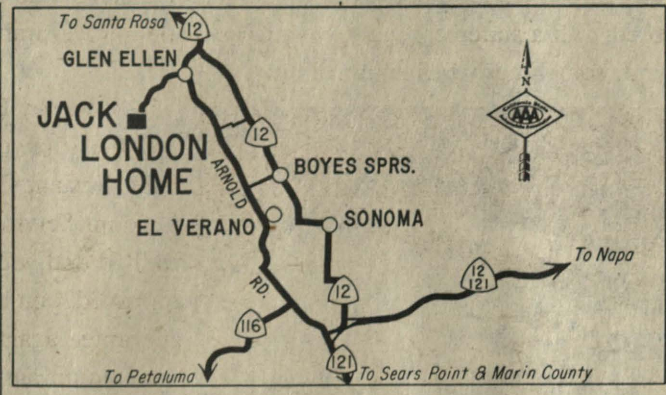
The ruins of Wolf House stand on a knoll overlooking the lush valley of the Moon, 50 miles north of San Francisco. The ruins are all that remain of the dream mansion of one of America's most widely read and renowned authors—Jack London.

The ruins of the house, a massive shell of stones, rocks and boulders are located in Jack London State Historic Park near Glen Ellen, reports the California State Automotive Association. It is a memorial to a man who lived life like an exploding firecracker. For Jack London—adventurer, war correspondent, world traveler—was a man who savored life and believed in living it to the fullest.

Wolf House is a short hike from the main entrance to the park along a trail that winds down a wooded hillside to a fire road and follows a stream to a grassy opening. Here, to the left of the main trail, is a path leading up to a small hill covered with oak and madrone.

Near the top, inside a small weatherworn picket fence enclosure, is a huge rock once destined to be used in the construction of Wolf House, but rejected because of its size. Jack London's ashes were placed under the rock shortly after his death on November 22, 1916.

Back down the hill to the main trail and further down the road is a grove of redwood trees that were only sprouts when Wolf House was being built. The skeleton of Wolf House sits just behind these, its massive stone walls and towers reaching outward and upward, enclosing nothing.



London reportedly sunk from $64,000 to $81,000 (figures vary) into Wolf House. The structure had a total of 26 rooms, 9 fireplaces, a reflecting pool, a courtyard and a fireproof manuscript vault.

On the night of August 22, 1913, a few weeks before the Londons were to move in, fire destroyed the mansion.

"The House of Happy Walls," built by London's wife, Charmian in 1919, is a short distance up the path from the parking lot at the park's entrance. It is a museum, containing many of London's personal effects—his writing tools, an old dictagraph, his desk, bed, rejection slips from publishers, manuscripts and artwork used to illustrate many of his stories. Furniture in the House of Happy Walls was to have been used in Wolf House.

London and his wife cruised the South Seas for 27 months on their yacht Snark and mementoes of that cruise are found in the main room downstairs. Visitors are also allowed to view upstairs.

The trail to Wolf House passes a wagon display of vehicles and harnesses used in London's day. One rig, pulled by four horses, was used by London in 1911 when he toured some 1,500 miles to gather material for travel articles.

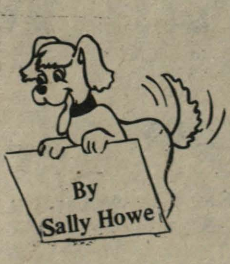
Bringing up fido



By Sally Howe

Our subjects in this column vary greatly from week to week, but we seem to get the best response from the column when we "tell a story".

This week's story is about a puppy whose whole personality was changed by individual attention.

Every serious dog breeder knows that "socialization" is an important part of puppy upbringing.

Serious "socialization" usually begins when puppies start moving around, playing, seeing and chewing. Recognized experiments have shown that the amount of human contact given a very young puppy can make the entire difference in the kind of personality he has as an adult dog.

The puppy in question was one of a litter of six. At nine weeks, three male puppies were left in the litter. Two of these three were naturally aggressive and pushed the third one much into the background.

He soon discovered that it was just as easy to move to the back of the pen when a human came, because his brothers claimed all the attention.

A visitor to the breeder made note of this and one evening asked if she could "borrow" him.

She took him to a park where a dog training class was being conducted, put him on a loose, light leash and started a "crash" socialization course.

She let him wander where he liked, pick up anything he wanted and kept up a running stream of words of praise. She petted, patted, coaxed, loved and encouraged him in everything he did. She told him he was good, even when he pounced on a bit of rope, a loose paper and an old cigarette butt.

She had everyone around the class pet him and play with him.

In a short two hours, he discovered people were great; the world was his oyster.

When he went to his permanent home two weeks later he had discovered that he could demand – and receive as much attention as his brothers.

Naturally the first session had been followed up by almost daily play sessions but the point is that a puppy who might have been a sullen animal was changed into one who now leads a happy, outgoing life.

And lest you feel you'd prefer the introvert, let me point out that fear, biters, discipline problems and high strung temperaments are often the result of a lack of human contact at a critical age.

Trash pushes ecology group out of center

Is the earth's future destined to be littered with broken glass, rusty cans and scraps of paper or will modern societies be able to find ways of overcoming the increasing amount of garbage produced each day?

Answers to these questions are being sought by organizers of a Recycling Center at San Jose State College which has been established as part of the college's new Environmental Studies Department.

The center, which is run by a class of 12 students and headed by John Stanley, instructor in the department, is aimed at finding economical and feasible solutions to the questions of what to do with garbage.

In the course of their study, the group is collecting bottles, cans, newspapers, cardboard, glass and other materials that can be recycled and looking for recycling methods for products that are harder to dispose of.

At the end of the semester, the students will submit a report of their findings to the San Jose City Council, hopefully showing that "recycling on a city-wide basis can be done at a profit to the city," said Craig Evans, publicity chairman for the center.

The main need of the center now, though, is not more material but a place to put what they have. The center is temporarily located in the Environmental Studies Building, but an overabundance of newspapers, glass, and aluminum cans forces them to find a new location. The students are looking for an empty warehouse, preferably near campus, that they can use to store the goods while they are processed and waiting for delivery back to the manufacturer.

Anyone wishing to donate space may contact the Environmental Studies Information Center at 294-6414, ext. 2760.

ON THE INSIDE—Crocker-Citizens National Bank's proposed PruneYard office in Campbell will reflect the early California motif that dominates the shopping center, according to the architect's sketch. The Spanish theme is emphasized by the post and beam architecture employed as well as through use of quarry tile for the lobby floor and wrought iron trim as decoration. Massive used beams support the rough-sawn plywood ceiling. Architects for the new bank building are Walker & Moody, San Francisco.

Fall Weddings

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL ROY KEIR

Keir - Sabbatini

Janis Lynn Sabbatini and Michael Roy Keir were united in a double ring ceremony at St. Joseph's Church in San Jose recently.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Jerome Sabbatini of Los Angeles, while her mother, Mrs. Hazel Sabbatini of 774 N. Central, attended the ceremony dressed in a pale green silk wool with matching accessories and a green orchid corsage.

The bride selected a gown with a Victorian look for her wedding. A softly gathered skirt with Venice lace empire bodice and stand up neckline complimented the softly gathered organza skirt. A detachable chapel train and two-tier high Juliette headpiece of lace enhanced with pearls completed the ensemble.

Maid of honor duties were performed by Alice Holtorf of Campbell who wore a floor length pale blue gown and carried pale lilac carnations and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Donald Eichman, sister of the bride, and Chrisanne Sahines, who wore gowns matching the maid of honor.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Keir, 1331 Castlemont, graduated from Campbell High School and attended West Valley and Yuba Colleges. Mrs. Harold Keir attended the wedding wearing pink chiffon and pink accessories and wore a soft pink orchid corsage.

Best man for the services was Gerald Clark Keir while guests were ushered to their seats by Gary Klingelsmith of Anaheim, Donald Eichman of Campbell, Robert Raffanti of San Jose and Charles Bardswell of Sacramento. Craig Holtorf of Campbell served as ring bearer.

Reception for the just-weds was held in St. Michael's Church Hall in Saratoga, where 225 saw them cut a four-tiered cake before leaving on a wedding trip to Southern California and Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Keir will make their home in Sacramento.

Turner - Young

The bride's mother made the gown for Nancy Cheryl Young, when she wed William Pitt Turner IV at Westminister Presbyterian Church in Sacramento in services recently.

The radiant bride's gown was white cotton lace over white faille. The dress was long and long bell sleeves of sheer cotton lace and a chapel length veil completed the costume. White button chrysanthemums with pink and white stephanotis and pink baby's breath were her bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton H. Young of Anthony Dr. are parents of the bride. Mr. Young gave his daughter's hand in marriage while Rev. Archie Marston read the wedding vows. Mrs. Young selected an ice blue silk shantung costume for her daughter's wedding and pinned on a butterfly orchid corsage.

Mrs. James D. (Loretta) Betz, preceded her sister down the aisle. Her costume and that of the bridesmaids, Mrs. Martin Salazar and Mrs. Kenneth Jones, was a long pink serrano with floral silk chiffon bell-sleeves. Their bouquets were pompom mums. Mrs. Salazar and Mrs. Jones are sisters of the groom.

Pitt asked Steve Moore of Davis, California to be his best man, while David Peters and Andrew Stocker served as ushers.

Pitt's mother, Mrs. Betty F. Turner, of Sacramento, selected a green bonded crepe dress, complimented with purple shoes and a veiled hat. Her corsage was also butterfly orchids. Pitt is the son of the late William Pitt Turner.

Nancy attended Westmont High School and graduated from University of California at Davis. She is now working in the display department in a Sacramento store.

The groom attended James Marshall High School in Sacramento and will graduate from Davis in December.

Following a reception, the newlyweds left on a short honeymoon.

Department of weights, measures checks accuracy of all scales

Scales that can weigh over 100,000 pounds, and scales that can weigh the line a pencil makes on a piece of paper.

Cattle scales located miles from the nearest road, and diamond scales found in the plush surroundings of expensive jewelry boutiques.

If it's a scale, and it is used where goods are exchanged for money, then the Santa Clara County Bureau of Weights, Measures and Consumer Affairs is responsible for testing its accuracy.

With the exception of drug store sales, every scale used for commerce in Santa Clara County is tested for accuracy on the average of once a year. By law, prescription scales are tested every two years.

That includes scales in wholesale and manufacturing firms. The Bureau even checks the scales used in the Post Office and the three California Highway Patrol truck scales located in the County.

According to Martin Sanders, supervising weights and measures inspector, the typical scale the inspectors test is the ordinary grocery store variety. However, the Bureau also tests scales and calibrates weights found at such varied locations as moving companies, wineries, building materials distributors, and dime stores.

In testing scales the Bureau uses dozens of different types of equipment. For checking vehicle scales a custom built truck and trailer complete with 36 one thousand pound weights and a crane is driven onto the scale, while for the delicate diamond and precious metals balance weights as small as 1/100 milligram are used.

Warehouse scales are tested with a van and a forklift to carry weights. Cattle scales are checked with a specially equipped jeep.

There are essentially only two types of scales. The most common is represented by the kind found in the grocery store or butcher shop. On these the weight is shown on a dial or meter. This kind can be used to weigh a head of lettuce to a load of cement.

The other type is more properly called a balance, and is used where very precise measurements of small objects are needed. Here the item to be weighed is placed on one side of the scale and the other side is loaded with weights until a balance is reached.

Sanders said that since the Bureau is dealing with scales used in commerce and that their task is to see that neither party is cheated, the standards they set for themselves are extremely stringent.

"When you tell a man in business that his scale is not accurate you had better be darn sure that the one you're testing with is right on the money," he added.

The one thousand pound weights used with the big truck are each accurate to within five-eighths of an ounce. Every six months they are taken to the Bureau's office and kept at 70 degrees Fahrenheit for twenty-four hours, then they are checked against the County's set of master weights.

Regularly the truck and master weights are taken to Sacramento and calibrated by the State.

Each time the truck is used in a test the gas tank is topped off just to make sure there is no variance in its weight. Recently when one of the truck's twelve tires was changed the entire truck was weighed and adjustments made to compensate for the weight difference between the two tires.

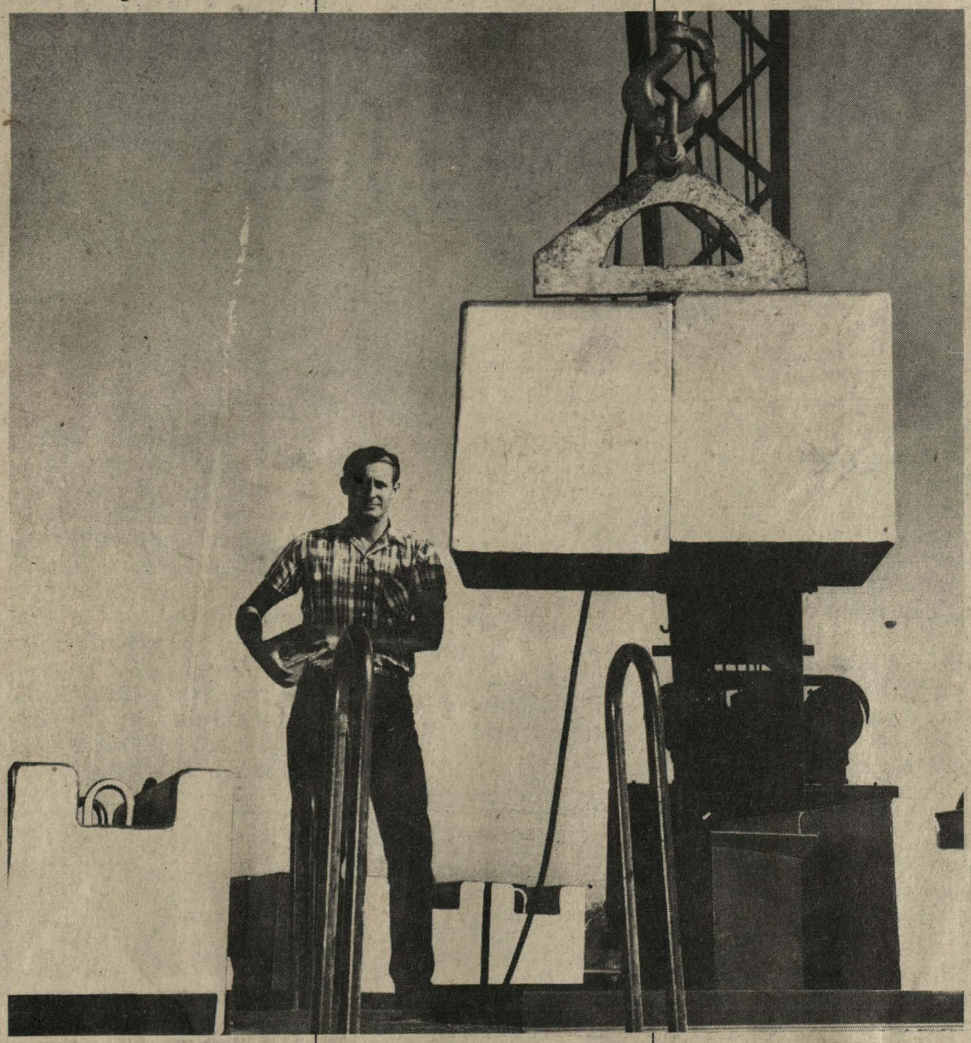
Sanders explained that when dealing with the smaller scales the Bureau is, if anything, more meticulous. The weights used in the day-to-day work, known as field standards, are frequently checked against the accurate secondary standards weights, that never leave the Bureau's office.

These in turn are constantly checked against the primary standards. The primary standards are weights of even greater accuracy. They are kept in special boxes and are used only in calibrating the secondary standards. Like the weights used on the trucks the primary and secondary standards are calibrated by Sacramento regularly.

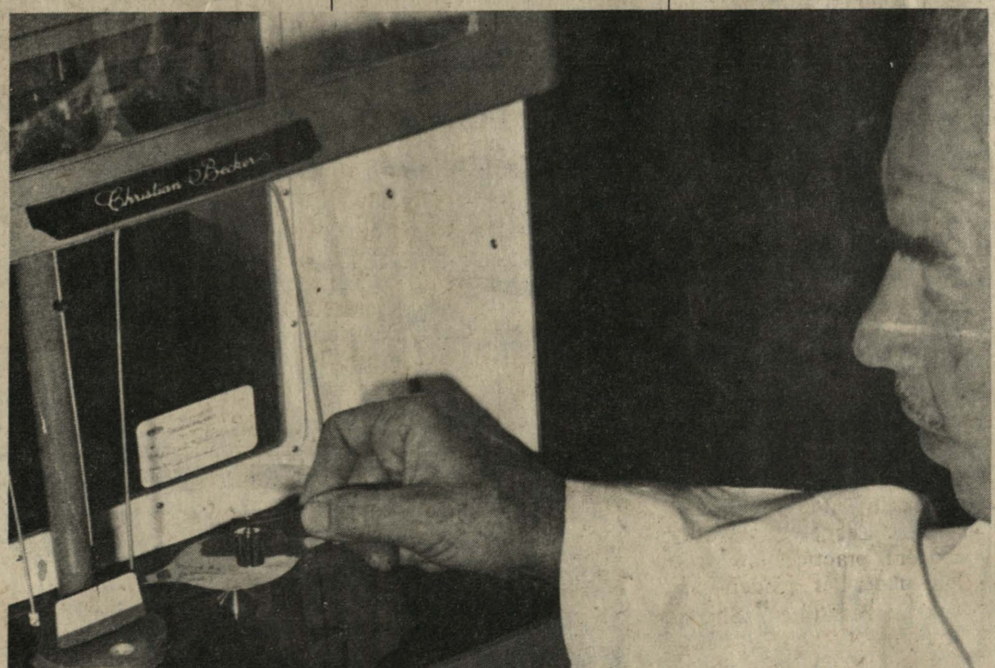
The tolerances required for the primary and secondary standards are so close that they are handled with a special tool lest oil from the technician's hand cause them to lose accuracy.

Santa Clara County's Bureau of Weights and Measures keeps its equipment to such high standards that it is the only county in Northern California that is allowed to test the analytical balances used by the laboratories of electronics firms and defense industries in this area.

The research work done in these laboratories has to be precise but the Bureau's work has been certified by the Federal Government.



QUITE A CONTRAST--Contrasting the tiny weight being handled by a pair of tweezers, these ponderous 1,000 pound weights are being unloaded from the County's special weight truck. Brian Pecknold of the Department of Weights, Measures, and Consumer Affairs operates the crane on the custom built rig.



PRETTY FINE WORK--Joseph Soderstrom of the County's Department of Weights, Measures and Consumer Affairs, checks the operation of analytical balance. This extremely accurate but delicate scale can measure very small amounts of weight. Santa Clara County is charged by the State with checking the accuracy of any of these scales used in commerce within the County.

Marines and gridiron club unite to sponsor bowl game

Final plans are being made for the ninth annual Toys for Tots Youth Football Bowl game sponsored by the San Jose Hornet Gridiron Club and the United States Marine Corps Reserve, which will be held Saturday, Nov. 28 at Buck Shaw Stadium in Santa Clara.

Two games will be played with the first starting at 4:30 p.m.

San Jose Stingers will play first and the second game will feature the Hornets and will start at 7:00 p.m. Championship teams from Los Angeles have been invited to compete.

The pageantry between the games will include a queen chosen from local high school Homecoming Queens by officers of the Marine Corps Reserve. An added treat will be entertainment by the Cupertino High School marching band which will participate in the Rose Bowl half time in Pasadena.

Admission will be $1 for adults and one usable toy in good condition for children.

Gate prize will be a paid weekend for two, complete with reserved seats, to the Rose Bowl Game.

All toys will be distributed to needy children at Christmas time.

The non-profit bowl game is financed by the Hornet Gridiron Club which is composed of parents of the "Hornets," "Stingers," and the "Yellowjackets," newest team in the club.

The Marine Corps Reserve has collected over 100,000 toys for needy children through games.

This Bowl Game is famous throughout the nation and is the largest Youth Bowl Game west of the Mississippi.

"A full stadium is the goal and promises to be the most exciting Youth Bowl of them all, and as always, a most rewarding experience," a team spokesman said.

The public is invited, and urged to attend.

Tickets may be purchased from any team, or Gridiron member, or by calling the following numbers: 371-0272 or 252-3864.

PLAY FOR TOTS---Two young Campbell boys who'll play in the annual Toys for Tots game at Buck Shaw stadium get a little coaching from Darien Bennett, head coach of the Hornets, who'll be playing in the game Nov. 28. Center is Ed Stewart, a Hogue student who plays guard and Ray Townsand, of Mitty High, who plays quarterback.

TURKEY SHOOT

The regular Monday evening tournament at the Gaslighter Theater, 400 E. Campbell Ave. will be turned into a Turkey Shoot next Monday, Nov. 23. Organizer Carl Aydelotte has broken it down into three classes. Class I will be for the experienced dart shooters, team members and other regular dart throwers. This will carry an entry fee of $2.00.

Class II will be the novice or newcomer dart player, with Class III for the ladies. Both of these classes will have an entry fee of one dollar. There must be a minimum of eight players to a category. Entries should be made before Saturday night, Nov. 21. Besides turkeys, there will be other goodies as prizes.

SINGLES TOURNAMENT

Sunday, Nov. 22, will see 28 top dart shooters representing the seven Bay area leagues of the Northern California Darts Assn. will invade Berkeley and do battle, not with the hippies and radicals but with each other to see who is the best dart shooter in Northern California. The field of battle will be the Steppenwolf Pub, 2136 San Pablo Ave., near University Ave.

Representing the South Bay League will be Jack Mehtala, Scuttlebutt; Don Rhodes, Lancashire Lad I; Jim Macredes, Gaslighter Theater I and Bob Mayer, Lancashire Lad II.

It is from the winners of this tournament and the doubles tournament, to be held mext month, that the members of the Northern California All-Star Team are picked. This team then plays the Southern California All-Stars for the state title.

GAS II BATTLES CLOCK I

Originally the Gaslighter Theater II was going to be called the "Olios." The "Olios" are the aftershow in the melodrama theater, and Gaslighter II would have lived up to that name as they are still in last place.

Last Wednesday Gaslighter II played host to Banbury Clock I, at that time tied for first place. Tom Carroll started things off for the Gaslighters by defeating Roy Haslam with a 17 dart game. Larry Musial of the Clock retaliated by defeating Jim "Robb" Robbins. Rich Speltz then moved the Gaslighters ahead with a 52 out against Des Maples. The Clock took over the lead when Rick Miller and Dave Pena took their matches with Carl Aydelotte and George Hoffman.

With the Gaslighters taking the team game, it was a 3-3 tie at the end of the first half.

The second half saw the Clock come on strong with Maples, Haslam, Musial and Miller taking Speltz, Hoffman, Aydelotte and Stu Kenworthy despite Kenworthy's high score of the evening (134).

Tom Carroll then barely squeaked by Dave Pena, nearly matching the previous weeks low by only getting two points for three darts. Carroll's win sparked the Gaslighters on to take the team game leaving the Clock team with over two hundred points still on the board. Des Maples had the high in of the evening (108) with Roy Haslam next (92). The final score had the Clock winning 7-5.

PIZZA VS FISH & CHIPS

The Black Knight Pizza Eaters invaded the "fish and chip" domain of the Lancashire Lad for their weekly darting joust. Pete Webster of the Knights lead off by defeating Tom Lawrence. Frank Malsbury evened the score on Milt Mennott. Conrad Messmer and Terry Elliot of the Knight beat Dave Hughey and Syd Joselyn but the Lad's Bob Nichols stopped Bob Knipe.

The Lad's Hughey, Nichols and Joslyn emerged the victor in their matches while Webster and Knipe countered for the Knights. The Lad made a valiant try to tie the match by taking the team game but couldn't muster the strength. The Black Knight won 7-5.

OTHER LEAGUE ACTION

Gaslighter I defeated the Scuttlebutt with some brilliant playing. Ben Macredes had a 94 out, John Glaze shot two 120's and a ton (100) and Kip Fanjoy threw an 80 in and a 121.

Lancashire Lad I and Banbury Clock II played to a 6-6 tie in a match that is being protested because of an ineligible player on the Clock team. A decision from the league governor as to whether this is a forfeit or a rematch was not available at this writing.

West Valley Sports

By Dick Sparrer

GRIDDERS NAB

West Valley College football Vikings won the Camino Norte Conference crown and a berth at the state play-offs with a tight 20-18 victory over a tough DeAnza squad last Saturday at Buck Shaw Stadium.

The orange headed Vikes secured the triumph to maintain their 5-0 CNC mark and their unblemished 9-0 season standing.

West Valley will now host the College of Sequoias in the first round of the state play-offs on Saturday, Nov. 28.

Time and place of the state game has not yet been determined.

"It's hard to single out any one player because everyone did so well," added Jones. Grant Mayfield, Campbell High grad, was the defensive leader with 16 tackles and was said to be the top hitter on the Valley defensive unit. The letterman linebacker was instrumental in halting a DAC scoring drive down to the one yard line early in the first period.

Bob Marotti, Campbell; Ron Wood, Campbell; Wayne Womack, Branham; John Bloomfield, Blackford; Ron Semon, Leigh; and Lance Anderson, Westmont, were defensive standouts for West Valley along with Mayfield.

The Viking d's gave up 361 yards total offense but held the Dons to only two touchdowns and one field goal.

Andy Morris, Campbell, was the game's top rusher with 86 yards on 15 totes while Ed DeLaRue, Santa Clara, WVC's top ground getter of the year with 538 yards, rambled for 53 in nine jaunts.

VIKE HARRIERS CNC CHAMPS

Les DeVoe led the Viking cross-country team to their first ever Camino Norte Conference championship last Friday with a clear sweep over Santa Rosa.

The Vikes ran to a 15-49 triumph to maintain their unblemished CNC mark of 5-0 and boost their season record to 8-0.

Dan Cruz, a Wilcox grad, Keith Kruse, Camden, Scott McVay, Westmont High, and Gordon Blackwell, Saratoga, followed DeVoe across the finish line to give WVC all five of the top places, a clean sweep, and a CNC crown.

DeVoe, Cruz, Kruse, McVay, Blackwell, Jim Everard, a Blackford grad, and Al Rios, Wilcox, will represent the Vikings next weekend at the Northern California championships in Santa Maria. West Valley, a third place finisher at the Sacramento State Invitational, in early October, is ranked high.

BOOTERS WRAP UP '70

The Vikings prepare to end the 1970 soccer season Thursday when they challenge Ohlone. Valley holds a 9-6 season record and 7-5 conference marking to hold fourth place in the Western Junior College Soccer Conference.

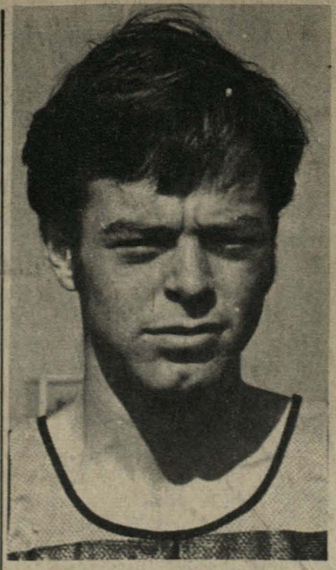
Of the Vikes six losses, three have been by only two goals and two by only one goal, one to league leading Canada and the other to San Francisco City. WVC has scored 49 goals on the year while allowing only 36 and Dan Torres, Santa Clara, holds the individual lead with 22 goals.

POLOISTS DROP TITLE

The Valley water-poloists won one of two games last week but their win was at the wrong time. The Vikings fell to top-ranked DeAnza 15-4 last Friday in the Camino Norte Conference decider after outclassing Chabot 16-10 Tuesday in non-league action.

QUINTS

Throughout the world, there have been only six authenticated cases of quintuplets living beyond infancy.



TOP VIKING RUNNER---Les DeVoe will lead West Valley College's cross-country team into the Norcal finals next weekend at Allan Hancock College in Santa Maria.

GALLOPS 80 YARDS TO SCORE–Joe Maniglia led West Valley College to a thrilling 20-18 win over DeAnza on Saturday night in Buck Shaw stadium in Santa Clara. Maniglia scampered 80 yards from scrimmage to score midway through the third period. West Valley College, by its win, won the Camino Norte league championship. The 80-yard run was the longest in the school's history, breaking Dave Ray's mark of 77 yards set last season against DeAnza.
